

Thermal Markers of Cognitive States Research Study

What? A research study investigating physiological signals associated with various cognitive states

When? 1 session that will last around 90 minutes

Where? Language Science Center, Patterson Hall (details to follow after completing pre-screen)

What does it involve? Complete computerized tasks while physiological signals are recorded (heart rate, breathing, skin conductance, skin temperature)

Compensation: $20/hour

For more info and to determine eligibility:

Issues with QR code?

Email: mkoff@umd.edu